

2012 PulseStar Awards

Presented by
APHL and CDC/EDLB

A Big Thank You.....

- Terry Reamer
- Jessica Monmaney
- Judy Gaither
- Becky Bandea
- Leslie Hausman

• Planning Committee:

- Molly Freeman (Chair)
- Amber Schmidtke
- Jennifer Wright
- David Melka
- Tracy Stiles
- Jen Mitchell
- Joshua Rounds
- Brian Sauders
- Hannah Gould
- Julia Hall
- Kelley Hise
- Jan Vinje
- Steven Stroika

- Roshan Reporter
- Steve Dietrich
- Julia Wolfe
- Rebekah Berry
- Deb Baker
- Neelam Narang
- Kim Quinn
- Dianna Bopp
- Chris Bailey
- Amy Bryant
- Beth McGlinchey
- Jeanette Dill
- Julia Wolfe

You might be a PulseStar if...

- You have kept the PFGGE laboratory running despite staffing shortages over the past year
- You have made valuable contributions to the PulseNet Steering Committee and Webportal project which shows your enthusiasm for the network
- You have become a recognized regional expert for the Midwest regional laboratories
- you are considered “Mr. PFGGE” to colleagues in your region (Ohio)

PulseStar Award Winner:

You might be a PulseStar if...

- You look for ways to more efficiently keep track of large volume of isolates processed in the New York State laboratory
- You are well organized and monitor matches to outbreaks both locally and nationally
- You are diligent about communicating matches to your epidemiologists and posting onto SharePoint
- You are a member of the PulseNet Annual Meeting agenda committee and have made valuable contributions to the success of PulseNet

PulseStar Award Winner:

Wadsworth Center, New York State Dept of Health

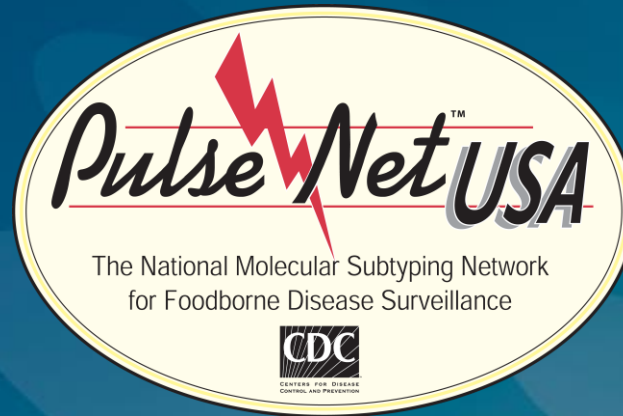

You might be a PulseStar if...

- You helped to identify an ongoing seasonal outbreak of Salmonella Newport associated with illegally sold homemade queso fresco
- You are dedicated to your job and are willing to learn and be involved in new activities
- You perform Area laboratory duties for the Mountain region
- You are considered to be a valued foodborne disease outbreak investigation team member in Utah

PulseStar Award Winner:

Congratulations to all of the nominees and to our PulseStar Award Winners

Thank you!!